Game Date: Saturday March 15, 2025

Elysium: Studio 1313

3/8/2025—The Kindred agree to meet with "Ghoul's Night" while taking countermeasures and sneaking into the Casino to see what else they can find out about the Ghouls and Demons collaborating there. The Ghouls however were not truly interested in peace talks as the group once again utilized the Hunter and his access to an isolated location, the newly renamed "Bad Time 3". Things escalate as Oliver requests that the Vampires hand over Marian in trade for a brief time of peace. One of the group considers the trade until they realize the trade would be permanent on only the loss of Marian.

It is then revealed Oliver was never seeking peace as he and the ghouls go in for the attack, to end up left behind in Canadian International waters with contraband as the Kindred return back to the Ohio Mainland.... But not before John D. Johnson was sprung from the boat and landed face down, bottoms up, as a sign for a good year as per the Inaugural Cleveland Vampire Holiday Spring Forward, a holiday started as a joke that may prove to be a lucky break.

The group at the Casino has their own issues, as they run into recognition and other troubles as their surveillance of the situation is cut short when Ginette, now known as Madame Redd cuts Amelia so deeply with her words that the vampire night club owner flees the Casino. Jay uses the distractions caused by his teammates to put some surveillance devices into the basement of the Casino before they regroup outside the venue and run into a face they had not expected to see, Reggie Addams, the now former Baron of the Cleveland Anarchs.

He agrees to meet with them briefly away from the Casino where he admits he just woke up in after over 6 months of complete darkness and isolation after August 6th

While the talks don't come to violence, Juliana and her Ghoul Sofia choose to stake Reggie via crossbow bolt after he continues to threaten Prince David and Baron Sunny in hopes that they might be able to talk him down instead.
