Cleveland By Night Episode 8: "Locked, Crooked and Loaded Questions"

Player(s) of the Night: Awarded to All Players

Game Date: Saturday April 12, 2025

Elysium: Bar 33

4/12/25- Decisions and Mistakes were made. The Oracles of Erie's insured the events that were foretold in their collective visions through misstep, after misstep. Kale's feud with Shepherd bringing everything together with one last supper to be remembered by all who survived. Oracular meddling with good intentions paved the road in chaos of Biblical proportions that ended in the deaths of some of their own, and resurrections of others. In the ruins of the casino - a physical manifestation of the ruins of Cleveland's leadership passed, the last two remaining leaders of the blood stood across from each other in silence soaking in the harrowing truth between the two factions. Now what?

Cleveland By Night Episode 9: "Blurses Come Home to Roost"

Player(s) of the Night: Awarded to All Players

Game Date: Saturday May 10, 2025

Elysium: Bar 33

4/26/25- Kale's mistakes come back to haunt him as Taylor makes a deal with his rival, Shepherd, in the wake of the incident at the Casino. Spending days staked in a box ultimately to stand trial and end up Blessed to speak his truth, and become the hero he claims to be, while also being condemned to be bound to his potential future mother-in-law until he can once again be a trusted member of the Famarilla. David realizing he is no longer fit to lead given his current personal dilemma, hands off leadership to Juliana who easily ascends the throne of Princedom in Cleveland. Additionally, in Sunny's recent and abrupt absence after the incident, Alastor becomes the new Baron, continuing the alliance between the Camarilla and the Anarchs in Cleveland.

Cleveland By Night Episode 9.5 (Garou/Hunter): "Wracked and Pained"

Player(s) of the Night: First Session - No Award

Game Date: Saturday May 17, 2025

After Hours: Mojitoville

The nights leading up to the Casino incident on Passover awakened many creatures due to the numerous breaches and the increased supernatural activity within the city limits. Pappy pulled together the recently changed in an attempts to start his pet project of a group of discerning individuals to help protect Cleveland and it's inhabitants without the extremist views and directions of current leadership and group-think that has been plaguing the city for years. While Shepherd and his immediate team are not a threat in his eyes, the organization he belongs to, the Divine Ordinance, has long been known for it's methods and madness of redemption or resolution. Dist. 9 and it's leader Mattias are on the extreme opposite end of the spectrum - with a focus on extermination and control. While Pappy has to lift the veil of his intentions sooner than expected, the future of this group appears promising. He takes them out on what should have been a routine call to address a disturbance turns into a brutal wake up call as they come toe to toe with two the Sabbath pack members currently plaguing the city. Luckily Pappy and his team are not the targets, but the incident leaves the vampires involved licking their wounds, mourning their losses, and for some - departing Cleveland forever.
